

Stuart F. Brown
39 Jaffray Park
Irvington, New York 10533
(914) 591-4811
sbrown3421@aol.com
www.stuartfbrown.com

Award-winning journalist and staff editor for national magazines and newspapers

Experience

- Current: Freelance journalist, editor and writer. Contributor to Scientific American, Fortune, New York Times, institutional and corporate clients.
- 1996-2006 Fortune Magazine · Writer
Conceived, reported and wrote feature and shorter articles about "manmade world" subjects including engineering, environment, product design, manufacturing technology and research and development. Industries included transportation, biotechnology, energy, electronics and defense.
- 1984-1996 Popular Science Magazine · West Coast Editor
Conceived, edited and wrote science and technology stories in a broad range of areas including aeronautical engineering, military technology, transportation and space.
- 1981-1984 Metalworking News, Fairchild Publications · Writer
Covered manufacturing technology at metalworking companies throughout the Northeast.
- 1980-1981 Vermont Journal, Essex Junction, VT · Writer
Reported general news for a chain of local weeklies.

Fellowship

1989-1990 University of Michigan, Technology Journalism Fellow

Awards

- 2007 The American Chemical Society · James T. Grady - James H. Stack Award for Interpreting Chemistry for the Public
- 2002/1988 International Automotive Media Awards
- 2001 Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers · Award for Distinguished Literary Contributions Furthering Public Understanding of the Profession
- 2001/1998 American Association of Engineering Societies, Journalism Awards

Membership

National Association of Science Writers
International Motor Press Association

Education

Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, NY
Bachelor's Degree, 1977

Volunteer Service

United States Peace Corps, Senegal, West Africa. 1977-1979. Worked on improving yields in wood charcoal production, and as an English language instructor.